

Keep the Kidneys Well

Health Is Worth Saving, and Some Barre People Know How to Save It.

Many Barre people take their lives in their hands by neglecting the kidneys, when they know these organs need help. Sick kidneys are responsible for a vast amount of suffering and ill health, but there is no need to suffer nor to remain in danger, when all diseases and aches and pains due to weak kidneys can be quickly and permanently cured by the use of Doan's Kidney Pills. Here is a Barre citizen's recommendation:

Mrs. Della Stephens, 157 Seminary street, Barre, Vt., says: "I know from experience that Doan's Kidney Pills are a reliable remedy. My first trial of them dates back three or four years ago. Severe pains in my back caused me no end of sufferings, and mornings, when I awoke, I was stiff and lame across the kidneys. A tired, languid feeling came to me, I had headaches and dizzy spells and was also bothered a great deal by a kidney weakness. Good reports about Doan's Kidney Pills led me to try them. They help me from the first, and continued use relieved all my suffering."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States. Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

A Woman's Great Idea

is how to make herself attractive. But, without health, it is hard for her to be lovely in face, form or temper. A weak, sickly woman will be nervous and irritable. Constipation and kidney poisons show in pimples, blotches, skin eruptions and a wretched complexion. But Electric Bitters always prove a godsend to women who want health, beauty and friends. They regulate the stomach, liver and kidneys, purify the blood, give strong nerves, bright eyes, pure breath, smooth skin, lovely complexion and good health. Try them. 50c at the Rex-Cross Pharmacy.

Most old people must give the bowels gentle, constant help. One candy Cascaret each day does that. Harsh physic, taken regularly, makes the bowels callous. Cascarets do not. Nearly all old people now use this natural, gentle help.

Some of our farmers are showing us nowadays how the Green mountains can be transformed into delicious, large strawberries, and the wonder is not being done here.

Miss Florence E. Leighton, principal of our high school, went to her home in Lowell, N. H., on Wednesday. She has accepted the position of principal of the school for next year and will return in time for the fall term.

Mrs. Frank Canning has just told us of the death, by tuberculosis, at or near Vinal Haven, Maine, of another of her foster brothers, Carver by name. He is the third one of these men, granite cutters by trade, to die by this terrible scourge. The first one to die, Frank Carver, was well known in Barre and Montpelier before his death a few years ago. What wonder that the aged mother is well-nigh heartbroken now!

If we were to guess who, at this time, are getting the largest amount of the greatest enjoyment out of our Vermont summer, we should say the Watermans, who are here from northern Nebraska, where trees are a very rare luxury. It is the first visit to Vermont of Mrs. Calvin Almsworth Waterman. Some years ago her husband left his home in Hay Springs, Nebraska, where he was a merchant, for Omaha, where he hoped to get help and relief from a severe chronic stomach trouble by surgery in a hospital there. As told us now, the operation seems like a most unusual and critical one. He did not survive it, and his body was at once brought here for burial in our village cemetery, as he had desired that his last resting place might be here, among scenes that he had known and loved so well in his youth. His wife does not wonder now that this was his choice, so beautiful does she find it here. What wonder that the ancients loved to think of trees as worthy homes for their divinities!

MONTPELIER.

E. O. Wedge resigns, After 18 Years as Supt. of Lighting Company.

E. O. Wedge, for eighteen years superintendent of the Consolidated Lighting company, has resigned and expects to leave July 14, for Astoria, Oregon, where he has accepted a position as general manager of the gas and electric light plant and street railway to that city.

His resignation takes effect July 9, when he will be succeeded by Harold Larabee, manager of the Green Mountain Electric company. He is a graduate of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

Charles Bradford will be promoted to superintendent of lines and construction.

HARMONY REIGNED

IN FIRST DISTRICT

Congressman Foster Nominated Again.

Congressman E. J. Hill of Connecticut Addressed the Convention.

Burlington, June 30.—The Republican first congressional convention here yesterday afternoon nominated Congressman D. J. Foster of this city to succeed himself. The convention was a quiet affair, devoid of all excitement, and harmony reigned supreme. There was no opposition to Mr. Foster. A tariff speech by Congressman E. J. Hill of Connecticut attracted a large number of voters.

H. Charles Royce of St. Albans presided at the convention, with Thomas Mack of Vergennes as secretary.

Mr. Royce delivered a forceful address, in which he outlined the achievements of the party and emphasized the point that the party pledges were being faithfully kept. He was in favor of the tariff board.

The platform embraced the following planks, among the rest:—

Sharing with their political brethren of the state and nation a justifiable pride in the record and accomplishments of the Republican party, the Republicans of the first congressional district of Vermont through their delegates in convention assembled renew their allegiance to the principles and policies of that party as affirmed by its last national convention.

Under these principles and policies and under the principles of Republican administration, this republic has steadfastly advanced in material prosperity, the just rights of its citizens have been carefully safeguarded and this republic has taken its rightful position among the nations of the earth.

In reaffirming our faith in the Republican policy of protection, we cordially endorse the administration of President William H. Taft and especially commend his resolute insistence that the declaration of the Republican national convention of 1904: "In our tariff legislation the true principle of protection is best maintained by the imposition of such duties as will equal the difference between the cost of production at home and abroad, together with a reasonable profit to American industries," be made effective through necessary legislation.

Congressman P. J. Hill of Connecticut delivered a strong speech in defense of the present tariff law, speaking in part as follows:—

A perfect tariff law is impossible. In a country as large as ours, unless there are different rates for different sections or zones, it must bear unequally.

This question of the fair and just application of tariff rates is a mighty serious one to New England to-day. We have neither fuel nor raw materials for manufacturing purposes within our borders.

We have capital and labor, but the central West has both in abundance also and at no higher cost, and they are a thousand miles nearer to the cheapest supply of everything which our factories need.

Whatever the issues may have been in the past, the clear-cut, well-defined issues of the future between the two great parties will be:—

Republican policy: Free admission of non-competing articles and all other articles on which our ability to compete has been or from time to time may be demonstrated, and to all other importations the principle of protection honestly and intelligently applied.

Democratic policy: A tariff on all importations applied for revenue purposes only.

On such an issue, I have not the slightest doubt as to the decision of the American people, for the Democratic policy would mean financial and industrial suicide.

Says $300,000,000 Would be Saved by Extenuating the Mosquito.

"Warring on Injurious Insects" is the title of Samuel Hopkins Adams' article in the July American Magazine. Says Mr. Adams in the course of his remarks:—

"The greatest potential discovery is that of the parasitic benefactor which should perform the miracle of exorcism which St. Patrick wrought on the snake of Erin. In round numbers $300,000,000 would not be an over-estimate of the consequent savings in human life and earning power, plus the increased value of real estate."

A California story about Mark Twain in the days when he was not overindulged with profitable employment has it that a woman of his acquaintance met him one day on the sidewalk with a cigar-box under his arm.

"Mr. Clemens," she said, "whenver I see you, you're carrying a cigar-box. Aren't you smoking too much?"

"It isn't that," replied Mark; "I'm moving again."—Everybody's Magazine.
